In a rare pre-season moment of repose, we had the opportunity to interview our own Captain Geoffrey about his experience and what he loves the most about cruising with AmaWaterways.
“In the end, a ship is just material – the crew gives the ship a heart.”

You’ve been an esteemed member of our family for seven years. What inspired you to become a river ship Captain?

I come from the sea. I served eight years on the west coast of Africa on a landing craft ship following some political conflict. Later, I spent two years on a supplier tanker ship in the Persian Gulf. When my first daughter was born, I came back to France and started working as a sailor aboard beautiful river ships on the Rhône River. I passed my license to become a Captain. This summer I am celebrating my 22nd anniversary on river ships. I am very proud.

What do you love about river cruising?

I like visiting different cities without unpacking multiple times. We stop at beautiful locations along the river, but my favorite moments are when we are cruising along, enjoying the incredible scenery.

Guests love our family atmosphere. How do you accomplish this on board?

A strong relationship between our offices, the Captain, Hotel Manager and Cruise Manager sets the tone on board. That family feeling we cherish is passed on to our guests. Everyone has the same mission, to create magical moments for every guest — and each crew member plays an equal role in accomplishing that.

What makes the AmaLyra feel like your second home?

It’s a family reunion at the start of each season. We spend a lot of time together and our friendships on board continue on land. Being a crew member with AmaWaterways means you are part of something very special. And our guests become part of the AmaLyra family as soon as they step on board.

What is your favorite moment of every cruise?

The crew farewell on the last night when the guests get to see all the people from behind the scenes who take care of them every day. To see the positive reaction from the guests and the smiling faces of the crew is very special. In the end, a ship is just material — the crew gives the ship a heart.

What inspires you the most about the AmaLyra?

When you walk on board you can feel the positive energy that comes from the crew. Walking across the Sun Deck in the morning is the best moment of the day for me — and I get to do that every day!

As Captain of the AmaLyra, you exclusively sail on the Seine River. Do you discover something new each time you return?

Everybody knows Paris is the world’s most romantic city. When the ship returns at the end of the week and we slowly cruise toward the Eiffel Tower — that moment is still magical to me, even though I have experienced it thousands of times.

What makes your heart sing outside of the nautical world?

I’m French, so French food and cooking are my big passions. When I’m at home, I change out of my Captain’s uniform and put on my “father uniform.” I have two beautiful daughters.

Sail with Captain Geoffrey on our 7-night Paris & Normandy cruise!
As the AmaWaterways family grows, we are always looking to collaborate with special people who love our brand and can help tell our story to new travelers.

Early this summer, I was excited to sail with Chef Joanne Weir aboard the AmaMagna. It was fascinating watching her film cooking segments in interesting locations as we made our way from Vilshofen, Germany to Budapest, Hungary. All the footage will be combined into several episodes for Season 3 of Plates & Places launching January 2020. It was such a pleasure for her to cook in the new AmaMagna’s Chef’s Table restaurant with its perfect open “show kitchen” that allows you to see the culinary magic being prepared and interact with our talented chefs.

Filming on board may look easy but it involves a lot of heavy equipment and hours of preparation just to catch that right moment! During this cruise, guests were invited to join the filming of the cooking segments and many stayed behind to chat with Joanne about her cooking experiences.

including the time spent with Alice Waters at the famed Chez Panisse Restaurant in Berkeley, California. Our own Hungarian-born Corporate Chef Jozsef proudly shared his recipe for Chicken Paprikash (see side panel) which will be included in one of the new episodes.

This was Joanne’s third cruise with us and, as always, she was joined by some friends and family who helped her try out all the new restaurants. While she loved the fresh, light, vegetable-forward menu of the Al Fresco restaurant, she was particularly fond of Jimmy’s. “I love preparing food and teaching cooking classes, but my favorite part is sharing whatever I prepare with friends and family. The relaxed family-style dining in Jimmy’s encourages the sharing of stories and laughs at the same time as the plates of delicious food are passed around. With the attentive personalized service from head waiter Bain and his team, we really felt part of the AmaFamily.”

A big thank you to our guests who graciously agreed to participate in all our onboard filming. We encourage you to continue sharing your special AmaMemories with friends and family — especially over good food and wine!

CHICKEN PAPRIKASH RECIPE

- 2 tablespoons sunflower or other neutral oil
- 1 large yellow onion, finely chopped
- 3 bay leaves
- 4 cloves garlic, minced
- 4 tablespoons sweet paprika
- 3/4 teaspoon hot paprika
- 1 cup diced tomatoes, fresh or canned
- 1 cup diced Hungarian peppers
- 12 skinless, boneless chicken thighs, about 2 pounds, cut into 1-inch pieces
- 2 cups chicken stock, preferably homemade
- Kosher salt and freshly ground black pepper
- 1/4 cup Greek yogurt
- 1/4 cup sour cream
- 1 pound store-bought egg noodles
- 1 tablespoon unsalted butter
- Flat leaf parsley leaves as a garnish

Heat a large heavy Dutch oven over medium high heat. Add the oil and heat until it begins to smoke. Add the onions and bay leaves and cook for 5 to 7 minutes until golden brown. Add the garlic and cook for 10 seconds. Add the sweet and hot paprika, tomatoes and peppers and cook for 1 minute.

Add the chicken pieces and enough chicken stock to cover the vegetables and simmer for 10 to 15 minutes. Season with salt and pepper.

In the meantime, bring a pot of salted water to a boil. Add the noodles and cook until tender. Toss with butter and salt.

In a small bowl, stir the yogurt and sour cream together.

To serve, place the noodles in a bowl. Make a well in the center of the noodles and spoon some of the chicken paprikash into the well. Place a dollop of the sour cream/yogurt onto the top. Garnish with parsley.

THE BIG ADVENTURE CONTINUES

PART TWO OF A TWO-PART STORY

READ PART ONE: The Big Adventure is Not Dead
at amawaterways.com/magazines/spring-2019
In July 2002, our Co-Founders Rudi Schreiner, Kristin Karst and the late Jimmy Murphy sat together in a one-room office. With passion in their hearts and a vision to show people the world one river at a time, they formed their river cruise company. “Our roles were clearly defined,” said Kristin. “Rudi would design and build the ships, I would fill them, and Jimmy would provide both of us the guidance and wisdom we would need to turn this dream into a reality.”

From the beginning, our dynamic leaders wanted to create a river cruise experience they, themselves, would love. That meant excellent food and wine, comfortable and tasteful decor, ample space in which to relax, and staterooms with maximum views to enjoy the ever-changing countryside.

Similarly, it meant listening to guest feedback and taking it to heart, creating enhancements and innovations, from a fleet of complimentary bicycles to The Chef’s Table specialty restaurant.

Timeline: A Trio Grows

By 2005, AmaWaterways opened another office in Vienna, Austria, to handle our operations; and in 2006, we had our first fully-owned and operated ship, the AmaDagio, designed by Rudi, whose previous ship design credits included the raft he sailed down the Amazon River some three decades earlier. “It was the realization of a lifelong dream to both build my own river ship and show people the world from a unique perspective,” said Rudi.

AmaWaterways started to gain a following. With a small group of employees in our intimate office in Chatsworth, California, Rudi, Kristin and Jimmy recognized the need to expand accommodations for growth, so in 2013, we moved to the top floor of our current office in Calabasas.
A Legacy of Love

Jimmy, known lovingly around the California office as Mr. Murphy, passed away in 2014. The legacy he left was one of greatness, and although the heart of the AmaWaterways family mourned, it also continued to grow in his memory. With the help of Jimmy’s son, Gary Murphy, who now finds success in his role as Senior Vice President of Sales, the U.S. team expanded, taking over the entire Calabasas office building by 2017 and accounting for approximately 300 employees worldwide. “It’s been inspiring to see employees who worked with Dad at the very beginning still working with AmaWaterways and continuing on his legacy today. He would be touched that so many of them are still a part of our AmaWaterways family,” said Gary.

Though oceans separate AmaWaterways’ teams in Europe and the U.S., our leaders maintain a close connection with the people who make up our diverse family-owned and-operated company.

“Dining aboard the new AmaMagna with Rudi and Kristin was deeply moving to me,” said Leo Starico, Manager of European Operations. “It made me remember dining together in 2005 and that we are still as much a family company today as we were back then.”

“Working for AmaWaterways since 2003 has meant the world to me,” said Wade Korzan, Director of European Operations. “It’s changed and shaped my life in so many ways and my enthusiasm and passion only grow each season.”

The Innovations Continue — Another Dream Realized

In 2019, another of Rudi’s dreams came true — the AmaMagna. Twice the width of traditional European river cruise ships, the AmaMagna is a distinctive evolution of AmaWaterways’ fleet.

Real innovation was thought to be virtually impossible because river ships couldn’t be any wider than the locks in which they travel through on the rivers and other inland waterways. However, the mighty Danube is exceptional as many of the locks on the Danube are twice as wide as any of the other rivers in Europe. So, Rudi seized this opportunity to design a prototypical river ship — the AmaMagna.

The Godfather of River Cruising

Without Rudi’s vision and passion, river cruising may not exist as we know it today. Recognized as the “Most Innovative Cruise Executive” and presented with the prestigious “Lifetime Achievement Award” by Cruise Lines International Association (CLIA), our kind-hearted patriarch, the so-called “Godfather of River Cruising,” always looks toward the future. Together, our leaders Rudi, Kristin and Gary have never lost sight of what is important: the warm, inviting atmosphere thatWelcome our guests, dedicated travel advisors, staff and crew into our extraordinary AmaWaterways family.

HONORING DAD ABOARD AMA MAGNA:

A TOAST TO JIMMY MURPHY

BY SUSAN MURPHY

AmaWaterways’ late Co-Founder, Jimmy Murphy, is the namesake for AmaMagna’s new family-style restaurant, Jimmy’s. His daughter Susan, Godmother of AmaCello, reflects on this honor as well as a special toast held inside Jimmy’s during AmaMagna’s Christening Cruise.

After a remarkable life-long career in the travel industry, Dad would be so thrilled AmaMagna is so innovative and AmaWaterways is once again setting the standard. He would take great pride in Rudi, Kristin and Gary being on the cutting edge.

Setting foot inside Jimmy’s Restaurant, in a way, felt like coming home. The photos of Dad and our family up on the wall made Gary and me feel so grateful. The atmosphere was relaxed, friendly and welcoming, with an understated elegance — all traits that would describe Dad. The interior designer knew Dad well and it shows.
"Dad always wanted to be remembered – and I’m so appreciative we have Jimmy’s Restaurant."

— GARY MURPHY, Co-Owner and Senior Vice President, Sales

The tables, lighting, furnishings and fabrics all come together to create a gorgeous welcoming space. The family atmosphere of the restaurant is so fitting to who Dad was.

When he wasn’t traveling for work, Dad was home every night for dinner. He would literally be walking in the door when his plate was being put on the table. The six of us had lively conversations — and you couldn’t get a word in edgewise with free-flowing conversation around the table. It was the same at Jimmy’s! In fact, it was conversations — and curiosity — that kept Dad young. He drove to the office in Calabasas from Pacific Palisades, and on his way, he would pick up day laborers and hitchhikers. We were nervous it would be unsafe, but Dad loved hearing their stories and having someone to talk to on the way to work.

Many of AmaWaterways’ staff describe him as kind and the consummate gentleman. He went out to lunch every day and would often walk out into the different office departments and ask somebody to join him, forging relationships that lasted years. He also loved getting to know everyone involved with creating AmaWaterways’ ships — from the designers and builders to the hotel management and nautical engineers to the Cruise Managers. Dad would be so touched the name of the restaurant was chosen by AmaWaterways’ staff, and that they’d honor their bond with him this way is very heartwarming to our whole family.

This restaurant is such a lovely honor and keeps him very much a part of the company. Each night the waiter comes by to every table to say a few words about Dad’s role as a Co-Founder of AmaWaterways. It makes everyone feel they are somewhere very special.

The food was, of course, delicious and plentiful, but also homier, with guests asking to have plates passed down for seconds. The wine pairings were excellent. The challenge is to keep the waiter from filling the glass the minute one’s head is turned!

Finally, it was wonderful having my daughter Anna at the event. It was lovely to have a representative of the next Murphy generation to participate in the toast with so many who respected and cared for “Grandad.” Of course, now the rest of the Murphy clan wants to dine at Jimmy’s!
NEW ITINERARY ALERT:

Magna on the Danube

There’s no doubt about it: the AmaMagna is truly extraordinary — and, as such, she needed her own unique itinerary. That’s why our Co-Founder and President Rudi Schreiner personally curated the Magna on the Danube, a new 7-night itinerary from Budapest, Hungary to Vilshofen, Germany (or reverse), available in 2020.

This distinctive sailing includes daytime scenic cruising through the Danube Bend, a magnificent stretch with a dramatic turn between rocky hills in Dunakanyar, Hungary. There’s no better way to enjoy the awe-inspiring scenery than from the comfort of one of AmaMagna’s full-balcony suites — precisely why Rudi saved them for a special sailing on this equally special ship.

In addition, Magna on the Danube offers both returning guests and those new to the Danube River an in-depth glimpse into Vienna’s Baroque splendors with an included excursion to the royal Habsburgs’ Schönbrunn Palace and Gardens. Built in the 18th century as an imperial summer residence, this magnificent 1,441-room Baroque palace is one of the most important architectural, cultural and historical monuments in Austria. You’ll see the living quarters of the emperors, which still contain their original furnishings, as well as a collection of carriages used by the imperial family and Viennese court. Plus, tour the equally impressive gardens, built around an artesian well from which the palace draws its name (Schönbrunn = “beautiful spring”). This attractive outdoor space encompasses a variety of botanical specimens, sculptures of deities and virtues, a maze, an arboretum and even a small zoo popular with local families.

And, while in Austria, you’ll be treated to an intimate wine festival in Spitz — an exclusive AmaWaterways experience that includes the chance to taste the region’s famous Grüner Veltliner and Riesling wines.

We’re so excited to introduce you to these incredible new sites and welcome you on board AmaMagna.

EXPLORING THE CHRISTMAS MARKETS

INSIDE: CO-FOUNDER KRISTIN KARST’S YULETIDE MEMORIES, SPOTLIGHT ON GENGENBACH — A GUEST FAVORITE AT CHRISTMASTIME, AND WHY YOU SHOULD CONSIDER BOOKING AN UNFORGETTABLE CHRISTMAS MARKETS OR NEW YEAR’S CRUISE.
For me, Christmastime was always the most magical time of the year. In Dresden, Germany, where I grew up, there was lots of snow falling, which made the holiday feel even more special.

I always particularly loved advent calendars — not the kind sold today with chocolates, but the kind with fairytale pictures. I would create my own homemade advent calendars and give them to my parents. Later, they would return the favor by giving me one of the beautifully imagined store-bought ones.

In the weeks before the holiday, Christmas Markets were open in cities around Germany. There’d be a big Christmas calendar on the town hall, pictures illuminated with snowflakes falling over them and children’s choirs singing, making it so festive in town.

On Christmas Eve, my dad, brother and I would go out to buy our tree in the early morning. My mom spent hours in the kitchen and while we decorated the tree, the fantastic scents of the Christmas goose, red cabbage and dumplings would make our mouths water.

The Most Meaningful Gift
After the tree was decorated, we would come together for a festive lunch, and then take a nap, while our mom put the presents around the tree. My brother and I, of course, knew where she hid the presents because, like many children, whenever she wasn’t around, we would search for them!

We would also create little handicrafts and give them to our parents. We didn't have much money to buy their gifts. My parents had given us something more meaningful — the
I loved Christmas as a child. That’s why I want to show our guests the traditions celebrated in Europe when everything is so peaceful, and when they can experience the magic of the Christmas Markets for themselves.

Bringing Holiday Magic to River Cruising

I loved Christmas as a child. That’s why I want to show our guests the traditions celebrated in Europe when everything is so peaceful, and when they can experience the magic of the Christmas Markets for themselves.

Taste local and seasonal specialties: gingerbread, all kinds of roasted nuts, sausages and glühwein (hot mulled wine), which comes in so many different flavors — raspberry, blueberry, apricot and even apple. All the glühwein mugs look different and every market (and stall) has its own special design, with a new one introduced every season. Our guests love collecting the mugs, drinking their coffee and tea from them, and remembering the unforgettable Christmas experience they had on board.

My Favorite Markets

My hometown of Dresden hosts the oldest Christmas Market in Germany, the Striezelmarkt, which has been held every year since 1434. There is an advent calendar with a window opened by Santa and his elves every night, and a giant Christmas stollen — a traditional bread filled with fruit and coated with powdered sugar. Although our ships cannot sail here, the markets we do visit offer similar memorable experiences in their own unique ways.

I love the Vienna market in front of city hall because of its enchanting backdrop. In Nuremberg, the Christmas Market expands throughout the city, with residents often decorating their homes just as beautifully as the town center. And, as part of our Christmas Markets on the Rhine cruise, we visit Gengenbach. This smaller town is worth the drive from Strasbourg to get a taste of a traditional Christmas Market with a very special advent calendar that brings me back to my childhood.

I encourage you all to bring your families, especially your children and grandchildren, on our Christmas Markets cruises. When you see their faces light up in places like Gengenbach, it’s magical. And your face will be just as smiling and bright.
The Grimms’ fairytale-like town of Gengenbach, Germany decks the halls — literally its town hall — like no other!

The crowning centerpiece of Gengenbach’s holiday celebration is its gorgeous advent calendar. Currently the world’s largest (and most beautiful) advent calendar in existence, the town hall unveils a newly designed window each December night until Christmas Eve, transforming into a “treasure trove of fantasy with music.” Each year, glass masterpieces inspired by skilled artists such as Marc Chagall and Andy Warhol and illustrators like Tomi Ungerer are lit up for the public eye with themes that weave art and music together with the magic of the season as a live band entertains the crowd.

People from all over come to this small town of just 11,000 residents during Advent to admire the spectacular calendar, including our Co-Founder, Kristin Karst. Kristin loves Gengenbach because “you get a taste of a traditional Christmas Market that is less commercial with the backdrop of the old medieval city center.”

Enticing Local Delicacies
You can indulge in tantalizing treats leaving your taste buds wanting more, from delicious roasted candied almonds to traditional lebkuchen, a special gingerbread biscuit, to reibekuchen, potato pancakes slathered with applesauce, for a sweet-salty combo. The Franciscan Sisters of Gengenbach sell wonderful jams and baked goods from their monastery kitchen with recipes attached so you can recreate them in your own kitchen. Also, don’t pass up the chance to eat a slice of enticing Black Forest cherry cake since you are in Germany’s Black Forest region.

For younger visitors, the center of town provides a stall where children can craft their own Yuletide cookies. If you’re of age, wash those yummy delights down with Spätburgunder Glühwein, a hot mulled red wine made from the grapes grown in the vineyards on the outskirts of town.
A Storybook Setting

Surrounding the Christmas Market are fascinating avenues to explore. Wander along the cobblestone lanes to the medieval town center, referred to as a “pearl among romantic half-timbered towns,” just as it was at its foundation in the 13th century. You may even recognize some of the buildings from Tim Burton’s version of the film Charlie and the Chocolate Factory. Gengenbach’s Niggelturm, a 118-foot watchtower built around 1366, contains an amazing museum showcasing the history of fools (medieval carnival-variety jesters) and the guilds that supported them. The tower of the Benedictine Abbey, founded in 725, rises above the newer 17th-century church of St. Marien, a compelling site with its smooth stone walls and well-maintained hedges.

Gengenbach’s Christmas Market is a wonderful place to make lasting memories this holiday season. This charming location can be visited while the ship is docked in Strasbourg as part of our Christmas Markets on the Rhine itinerary, and its market will be in full swing from November 30 through December 23, 2019. Come visit for yourself and experience why Gengenbach is a beautiful holiday gem shining bright in the Black Forest.

Distinctive Black Forest Handicrafts

After sampling local delicacies to your heart’s content, there is still so much to see in the town’s market. A life-sized nativity scene carved out of Black Forest wood majestically keeps watch over the Christmas Market. Beautiful holiday trinkets can be bought here as well. The Franciscan Sisters of Gengenbach sell hand-crafted candles (another one of Kristin’s favorites), Christmas tree decorations and paper stars. Along the stalls lining the streets, local artisans display their wooden Christmas decorations and owls made of tree bark, all locally sourced from the Black Forest.

DID YOU KNOW?

Owl-shaped Christmas ornaments were popular in the 19th century, as their purported wisdom was the ultimate Christmas wish. Today, according to "The Legend of the Christmas Owl," these creatures serve as a second pair of eyes for jolly St. Nick.

When the opportunity arose for Kip Altstaetter and his partner Tab Judd to go on a Christmas Markets on the Rhine New Year’s cruise with AmaWaterways, the two jumped at the chance to experience their first luxury river cruise and ring in 2019 in style.

The New Year’s Eve gala aboard AmaSerena began with a special holiday menu prepared with locally-sourced ingredients and paired with AmaWaterways’ finest sparkling wine. Afterward, guests headed to the Main Lounge to dance to live music that enhanced the jovial occasion. “Three-fourths of the ship was on the dance floor,” Kip recalled.

Just before midnight, the attentive crew encouraged everyone to go to the Sun Deck to see all the fireworks. They also made sure to pass out blankets to help people keep warm.

Although some of our New Year’s cruises dock in a large city, this sailing offered the special experience of scenic cruising as the clock ticked toward midnight. Kip remembered, “It was spectacularly planned, so when we were cruising through rural communities in Germany, all the bridges were lit up with fireworks. We felt like we were a part of them, reflecting off the river.” Guests and crew agreed: it was an unforgettable way to welcome the new year.

The next day, Cruise Manager Rual commended Kip and his travel companions for getting everyone on the dance floor. “The crew and staff brought us all together,” said Kip. “From Alabama and Texas to Australia, we made such wonderful friends. And we had the best time.”

When Miriam and Ben Goldberg’s extended family booked a Paris & Normandy cruise along France’s Seine River in August 2017, they didn’t want to miss out on what promised to be a memorable experience. However, there was just one hitch: the newlywed couple were the only members of the family who practiced Orthodox Judaism, which presents unique challenges when traveling out of the country by river cruise ship. “We wanted to be with our family, but we were worried about keeping Shabbat and eating kosher,” said Miriam.

When the couple embarked in Paris, a friendly crew member was ready and waiting to whisk them away to a nearby kosher grocery store where they were able to get fresh kosher food and wine. Miriam praised the crew for doing what they could to assist. “They even gave us their little personal office fridge for our stateroom, so my husband could have kosher milk in his coffee in the morning without having to ask,” she said. “We felt very catered to.”

In accordance with Orthodox Jewish law, during the period of rest and spiritual enrichment from sundown on Friday through sundown on Saturday, observant individuals must refrain from using electrical appliances and even key cards — such as those used to open AmaLyra’s automatically locking doors. Of course, the outstanding crew was more than happy to accommodate. During the day on Saturday, the Hotel Manager zipped back and forth to open Miriam and Ben’s door with a manual key, ensuring they could return to their stateroom whenever they wished.

WHAT IS A UNESCO WORLD HERITAGE SITE?

You may have noticed AmaWaterways sometimes uses “UNESCO-designated” or “UNESCO World Heritage Site” when describing excursions available on our river cruises. But what is a UNESCO World Heritage Site — and why do we design our itineraries to include so many of them?

The United Nations Educational, Scientific and Cultural Organization, UNESCO, is dedicated to giving both cultural and natural locations of significance the protection and recognition they deserve. The United Nations founded this assembly in 1942, and UNESCO composed an international treaty 30 years later that set the standard for what places must emulate to be considered a World Heritage Site.

Standards and Criteria

Cultural sites, such as Cambodia’s awe-inspiring Angkor Archaeological Park or the magnificent Cologne Cathedral in Germany, must present an outstanding example of human traditions, architecture, values or creative genius to be accepted as a World Heritage Site. These locations exude the wisdom of the past and set a vibrant display of what the world looked like before our time. Natural sites, such as Zimbabwe’s spectacular Victoria Falls, and Austria’s breathtaking Wachau Valley, must display significant ecological and biological development, either past or present, as well as immense native beauty. These preserved pictures of untouched environment boast special gems that can be admired across the globe — many along the rivers we sail.

A Label of Protection

When a location, building, or monument is considered UNESCO-worthy, it receives special care from the organization. Significant resources and time are devoted to ensuring these places thrive. UNESCO’s goal is to keep natural and human history intact, so we can learn from the authentic cultural experience each location.

Ha Long Bay, Vietnam
offers. The Rhine River, lined with alluring castles and charming historic towns, embodies the long history of human involvement along the region’s natural landscape, which can be explored on our Rhine River itineraries.

Universal Value

Being designated as a UNESCO World Heritage Site is an impressive honor, and thus the landmarks that receive this qualification are held to a higher standard. The universal value UNESCO sites possess rises above country borders, placing responsibility for their care on an international community dedicated to their conservation. Places with the UNESCO stamp of approval are actively demonstrating their importance to the rest of the world by allowing people to come and take part in the culture and history that are cherished and nurtured by their local communities.

Explore UNESCO Sites

The beautiful medieval town of Regensburg, Germany, is a notable member of this list. Some of the buildings have stood there for more than 2,000 years! The fascinating examples of Roman, Romanesque and Gothic architecture can be explored while sailing on our  Legendary Danube, Blue Danube Discovery, Magnificent Europe, Grand Danube, Iconic Christmas Markets, Christmas Markets on the Danube and Magical Christmas Markets itineraries.

The Netherlands' Kinderdijk Windmills earned their place on UNESCO’s prestigious list due to the extensive irrigation system they maintain. Built during the Middle Ages, these hydraulic systems are amazing examples of historical technology that can be toured during our Tulip Time itinerary; while Vietnam’s Ha Long Bay, a natural World Heritage Site, exhibits a gorgeous seascape of limestone pillars rising out of the dazzling waters of the Gulf of Tonkin. This biological beauty is featured on both our Charms of the Mekong and Riches of the Mekong itineraries. These are just a few of the sites designated as cultural and natural locations that helped create the world as it is seen today.

Towns frozen in time, preserved so you can explore them and see what it is like to be a part of the past. Landscapes separated from civilization, from human influence, show what nature can look like in its most free state. Over 1,000 World Heritage Sites share their stories and these extraordinary places have so much more they long to share with the rest of the world.
MEMENTOS FROM THE MEKONG AND BEYOND
Captivating experiences lay around each bend and twist of the mighty Mekong River during a bucket-list adventure through Vietnam and Cambodia. Throughout your journey, many fascinating treasures can serve as a reminder of the exotic things you have seen, smelled, tasted or touched that keep your memories in your heart forever.
VIETNAM

Conical Hat / Straw Hat
An iconic gift from Southeast Asia, this hat draws its shape from the legend of the rain-shielding goddess, who wore one to protect the Vietnamese farmers’ rice. Foldable versions are even available, perfect for your suitcase!

Ao Dai – Vietnamese Traditional Dress
This traditional dress made from soft silk is a beautiful style that can be worn for many occasions. Two parts — a form-fitting, long-sleeve tunic and a pair of trousers — meld together into figure-flattering outfits, and Hanoi and Ho Chi Minh City are great places to find tailors to make one specific to your dimensions, at a reasonable price.

CAMBODIA

Silk
Cambodia’s long history of silk weaving dates back thousands of years, and in villages like Oknhatey, known as the Silk Island, you can watch locals weave beautiful swaths of silk that transform into lovely scarves and shirts, among other items.

Rice Candy
Cambodia’s staple can be turned into a number of products, and delicious rice candy is one of them. These soft and chewy delights are usually gluten-free and vegan friendly, so many people can try them. While in Cai Be, be treated to a rice paper and candy workshop; you can even make your own to bring back home.

Fish Pedicure
The most lasting keepsakes are memories, especially unusual ones. In Siem Reap, tickle your fancy and toes with a unique fish pedicure. An exotic take on traditional pedicures. These offer an exfoliating experience reserved for the truly adventurous traveler.

THAILAND

In 2020, AmaWaterways introduces Bangkok, Thailand as an exhilarating add-on to our two Vietnam and Cambodia river cruise and land programs — Riches of the Mekong and Charms of the Mekong. During your 3-night stay in Bangkok, discover the centuries-old Grand Palace with its glittering Temple of the Emerald Buddha, and find distinctive mementos at markets like the Night Train Market and Bon Marche Market.

Handmade Bags

You can find countless handmade bags throughout the city, some specially created by Thai designers and local university students. NaRaYa is a famous local brand that offers high-quality fabric handmade bags and pouches. Their flagship design is the silk bag with a big ribbon attached in the middle.

Coconut Products

Coconuts make a significant contribution to Thailand’s economy. Coconut oil, intricately painted coconut shell bowls and handcrafted coconut shell trinkets are just a few of the exotic keepsakes that can be found in Bangkok markets.
